Farmers of Drouth Stricken Areas Are Canning Fresh Meat

Many Bees and Chickens Canned Over State By Home Agents

INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN

Demonstrations Given in Many Communities With Pressure Cookers

Families of drouth-stricken farmers also are being helped to produce a supply of fresh meats for winter use by home demonstration agents who are conducting meat canning demonstrations throughout the state. Miss Ella Posey, district home demonstration agent in the Agricultural Extension Service, said yesterday.

Miss Sue Marshall, home demonstration agent in Nevada county, reported that 10 beehives have been canned in that county since August 18, and five days have been spent canning chickens. Miss Marshall said she is arranging to give one demonstration in canning beef and one in canning chicken in each community and invite all citizens of the community to attend, so the work may be carried on all winter.

Canning Stations Opened
Mrs. Myrtle Watson, home demonstration agent in Union county, has set up eight canning stations in different parts of the county, at which those who lack canning facilities may have their beef or chicken canned. Mrs. Watson will have general supervision of the stations, with some farm women who have been enabled as a demonstrators in food preservation in direct charge of the work.

Fifteen meat canning demonstrations are scheduled in Drew county, eight in Lawrence, 10 in Fulton, 10 in Craighead, eight in Washington, 19 in Hempstead, 15 in Jefferson, and 15 in North Sebastian. Miss Connie Bonslagel, state home demonstration agent, reported.

Many Communities Aided
Miss Ruby Mendenhall, Extension Service economist and food preservation specialist, said yesterday that during the past month she supervised the canning of 2,000 pounds of beef, valued at $500, and visited 62 communities in nine counties, including Johnson, Sevier, White, Craighead, Calhoun, Little River, Ashley, Chicot and Izard. In addition, she gave chicken canning demonstrations in Hot Spring and Nevada counties at which 75 quarts of chicken were canned. The demonstrations were held in homes, schools and churches—benevolent, and 455 persons were instructed in canning methods, she reported.

Miss Marcelle Phillips, home demonstration agent in Logan county, has been meeting with the County Demonstration Council at Booneville tomorrow to plan a fall and winter program, and Mrs. Joyce Sharpbell, home demonstration agent in South Sebastian, will conduct a similar meeting at Mansfield Friday. Miss Bonslagel announced.

W.S. Atkins Reports Yields of Pen Farms

Crop Estimated to Bring About One Third of Last Year Total

Chairman W. S. Atkins, of the State Penitentiary Board, said today that the two state prison farms would produce about 2,100 bales of cotton this year, compared to 3,418 last year. At the present price of cotton this year's crops would bring a revenue of $165,000. Last year the cotton produced by the state brought $400,000. Mr. Atkins stated that the farms were both producing enough feed to carry the livestock over another year. He also stated that despite the depressed conditions the farms escaped to get through without any serious deficit this year.

Prisoner Escapes From Jail at Haskell, Okla.

SEARCY, Sept. 18.—Alva Pitts, arrested at Ponca City, Okla., Friday and charged with having stolen a 1929 model Pontiac, coupe here the night of September 7, belonging to L. E. Moore, Jr., escaped jail at Haskell, Okla., Sunday night. It was learned here on the return of Sheriff Pitts Yarnell.

Reaching Haskell late in the afternoon, Sheriff Yarnell stopped for the night and placed his prisoner in the Haskell jail. When he returned to the jail the next morning he was advised that the prisoner had saved the bars during the night and escaped. Sheriff Yarnell delivered the stolen car to its owner here.

Large Distillery Is Raided Today

Largest Plant Recorded Since the Eighteenth Amendment Was Enacted—Plant Equipped With Telephone System and Elevators

DETROIT, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Police early this morning destroyed an illicit distillery, said to have been taking in more than a million dollars a month for several months, the largest plant ever seen in Detroit since the 18th amendment was enacted.

The elaborate equipment, said by conservators to be worth more than $75,000 will be confiscated.

Operators of the plant escaped by means of rope ladders from the rear windows while the police were battering down the front doors.

Located near the center of the uptown district, the huge distillery was equipped with a complete telephone system and a battery of elevators and

Committee Asks For School Books Needed For Children of Farmers Whose Crops Are Ruined

LITTLE ROCK, Sept. 18.—School books in large quantities are needed for children of farmers who are unable to buy them because their crops have been destroyed by drouth, the state Drouth Relief Committee announced yesterday.

Many letters have been received at Governor Parnell's office and at headquarters of the state committee from farmers saying they cannot send their children to school unless they receive aid in obtaining text-books.

Letters were sent out yesterday by the state Drouth Relief Committee to chairmen of county relief committees urging them to take action toward providing school books for children whose parents cannot afford to buy them.

It was suggested that a campaign should be put on in each county to collect used text-books to be passed on to those who need them. Atties and hall closets should be searched for discarded school books. It was said and all books that might be of service to children whose parents are too poor to purchase them should be sent to the county superintendent of education or the principal of the school in the community for distribution.

Four Coal Miners Killed In Pennsylvania Blast

Five Hurt as Train Collides With Truck

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Two Mexican laborers were injured, probably fatally, and three boys hurt Tuesday as northbound Missouri Pacific train Number 4 collided with a truck in which they were riding at a crossing one half mile south of Round Rock.

The accident occurred on a country road leading to the Round Rock line, where the men were employed. They were on their way to a Mexican celebration in Round Rock.

John Daniels, Aged Nevada County Man Files Court Appeal

Convicted on Second Degree Murder Charge Last Court

KILLED MILDRED JOBE

Girl Was Killed During Scuffle of Her Father and Daniels

LITTLE ROCK, Sept. 18.—(AP)—An appeal was filed in supreme court today by J. L. Daniels, of Prescott, Nevada county, convicted on a second degree murder charge for the fatal shooting of Miss Mildred Jobe, twenty miles southeast of Prescott last June.

Miss Jobe was killed during a scuffle between Daniel and her father, when the former came to the field where she and her father were working and demanded the return of a gun that Jobe, a deputy sheriff, had taken from Daniel's son a few days before, it was shown at the trial of Daniels last July.

The appeal today, it is said is a continuation of a petition asking that a change of venue be granted to Daniels. The court refused to grant this change from Nevada county.

Feeling ran high in the Caney community where the Jobe family as well as the Daniels family lived.

Daniels at one time was said to have been a constable in a Nevada county township.

Governor Does Not Desire Presidency

Maryland Governor Asks That He Is Not Chosen For Candidate

BALTIMORE, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Democratic leaders gathered today for the state convention were warned not to endorse Governor Albert C. Ritchie for President of the United States in 1932.

The governor in a letter to United States Senator M. M. E. Tydings, unopposed for the convention chairman, said he had been informed such a resolution was to be introduced and requested that no action be taken on it.

New College Opened In Tennessee City

Founded in Honor of the Late William Jennings Bryan

DAYTON, Tenn., Sept. 18.—(AP)—A Fundamental College, outgrowth of the famous anti-Evolution trial here five years ago, was opened this morning.

The school is a memorial to William Jennings Bryan, one of the leaders of the trial against teaching the theory of evolution in the public schools. He died on July 10, 1925, two days after the trial ended.

This college will be known as the William Jennings Bryan Co-Educational school.

Only freshmen started today but other classes will be added until a full four-year college course is given.

Nearly a million dollars has been subscribed and an 81-acre tract of ground has been acquired by the board.

George E. Guille, elected president of the institution is a noted fundamentalist.

Sawmill Company Builds Railroad

Fourteen Mile Track Is Being Laid By Large Mill Company

PINE BLUFF, Sept. 18.—Work of laying a 14-mile railroad from its large sawmill to a point on the Rison-Pine Bluff highway by the Union Sawmill company, will be completed soon.

This company operates a large mill at Bruce, and owns large tracts of virgin timber in this section.

A logging camp will be established at the terminal of the log road and logs transported to the mill at Bruce for manufacture into lumber.

The Union Sawmill company operates several large saw mills in Arkansas, including the plant at Huttig, one of the largest in the South.

Elks To Improve Local Clubhouse

Building to Be Repainted at Matter of National Policy

In an effort to co-operate with federal and state programs providing for as much public work as possible this year, the local Elks club has authorized the painting of its local clubhouse, to cost approximately $250, according to Talbot Field, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Field said the local improvement was authorized following receipt of a letter from Lawrence H. Rupp, grand exalted ruler, addressed to Elks lodges everywhere in the United States. Mr. Rupp's letter said in part:

"President Hoover addressed an open letter to our order, presented to the Grand Lodge at Atlantic City, calling our attention to the trying conditions of unemployment now prevalent in our country. To redeem our pledge, given in good faith to the president, we should aid in giving jobs to those who are unemployed. This can be done in a direct manner by those who have jobs to give, and it can be done in an indirect manner by those who have money to spend."

Head-Shaped Pearl

VINCENNES, Ind., Sept. 18.—(UP)—A pearl formed into the shape of a head was found by Ben Sreskey in a mussel in White river. The pearl was made into a stick-pin and Sheskey has been offered $150 for it but believes it's worth nearer $1,000.

Formal Opening Football Season Is Scheduled Friday

'Bobcats' Go to Ashdown Tomorrow For First Game of Season

NEW MEN ON THE LIST

Team Showing Up Good For Early Season According to Coach

The Hope High School Bobcat eleven will experience their first taste of combat for 1930 Friday when they go to Ashdown to clash with the high school team of that city in the opening game of the season.

Hope high's football team this year, under the direction of Coach Wilkins promises to be one of the best developed by the school in several years. More men reported for practice two weeks ago says the coach than had ever before answered the call. Plenty of material is available for every position he says.

This season the team will include men who are playing the game for the first time as well as several who have been regulars for several years. Out of the 33 candidates there are 11 who have never before appeared on a football field. At least two of these eleven will find places on the first team and will be included in the line-up Friday when they appear against Ashdown. These men are being watched with interest by the school as it is believed they are going to become stellar players before the season is very old.

Both school and town, seem to be displaying more interest in the game than it has shown in some time. Everybody seems to be behind the football team in the anticipation of producing a winner. Season tickets for the six home games are being sold both to the student body and to the town. These home games will be with DeQueen, Waldo, Molvern, Camden, Stamps and Texarkana. Matthew Reeves and Lem Harrell are co-captains of this year's squad. Both are seasoned veterans of the gridiron and the school is expecting them to lead the team to stardom this season.

The following men will probably start Friday's game: Pritchett, Hargis, Jackson, Chamberlain, Schooley, Jones, Mauldin, Wray, Harrell, Reeves and Bacon. Schooley and Mauldin will be in their first match game. Other men who will be carried along will be Moore, Breeding, Brown, Graves, Phillips, Adams, Fields, McKee, Johnson, Moser, Berry, Shipp, Ruggles, P. Brown, Carpenter, Wyatt, Coffman and Norman Moore.

Explosion Forces City Plant Down

Electric Service Restored at 1 p. m. After Break at 11:30 a. m.

City water service was crippled an hour today, and light and power current about an hour and a half, when a blow-off pipe exploded at the municipal plant.

The explosion occurred at 11:30 a. m. Water service was resumed about 12:30, and electric current at 1 p. m. Hope Star lost an hour's mechanical composition just before noon, and will appear a little bit late today, but owing to the proximity to the lunch-hour hour, the break caused very little inconvenience generally.

George Sandefur, plant manager, explained that the blow-off pipe on the middle boiler, at the plant exploded, emptying both the middle and left-hand boilers, which were doing joint duty while the third boiler was being overhauled and cleaned.

Immediately after the break, both boilers were rigged up for duty, but it required the better part of an hour to get the steam again sufficient to pull the big generators. As the city water works depends on electric power to man its pressure-pumps, the plant had to call on the fire department for a pumper-truck to fill the boilers with water.

Owing to the smaller requirement for steam, the water service was resumed first, but half an hour later the pressure was high enough to turn the generators also.

McCaskill Man Hurt As Truck Overturns

CAMDEN, Sept. 18.—John Copeland, 45, of McCaskill, Ark., driver of a bullet truck for Jack Atkins, of Camden, suffered severe bruises and cuts about the body when his truck overturned on West Washington street Wednesday afternoon. He has been taken to the Camden hospital for treatment.

Noted Aviatrix In Plane Crash

Bulletins

Ruth Alexander Is Killed Early Today As Plane Hits Hill

Was on Trans-Continental Flight From Mexico to New Jersey

WAS A KANSAS GIRL

Miss Alexander Was Born in Irving, Kansas, 24 Years Ago

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Miss Ruth Alexander, 24-year-old world known aviatrix, plunged to her death shortly after her take-off from a trans-continental flight to Newark, New Jersey.

Miss Alexander left Lindbergh Field at 3:38, Pacific Standard Time, and had traveled but four miles when she met her death.

With a terrific crash her light-colored winged monoplane plunged into a hill. Her broken body was found in the wreckage of the plane, parts of which were scattered for several hundred feet.

Files From Mexico
Miss Alexander's official flight started from Agua Caliente, Mexico, at 1:25 a. m. Her plane was christened the "Agua Caliente."

"She landed in San Diego, Calif., and stated that she expected to make the first stop of her journey in Wichita, Kansas, and had planned to reach that place about 7 o'clock central standard time tonight."

Miss Alexander was born at Irving, Kansas, in 1906. In 1916 she took her first ride in an airplane. At that time she decided to become an aviatrix.

She held the world's record for longest distance fliers in planes of less than 100-horse power.

Less than a month ago Miss Alexander made a non-stop flight from Vancouver, B. C., to Agua Caliente, Mexico, in 16 hours.

Gurdon Man Fatally Hurt in Car Crash

Lewis Davis Killed on His Way to Revival—Two Others Hurt

GURDON, Sept. 18.—Lewis Davis was instantly killed and Ernest Smith and Lawrence Cox received minor injuries when the car in which they were driving to the Gypsy Smith revival meeting at Camden collided with a lumber truck five miles south of Gurdon on Whelan highway at Barling spur on Missouri Pacific.

Davis was driving the car and had turned to pass an oil truck driven by L. O. Denton struck his car injuring Denton slightly and turning his truck loaded with lumber over.

Davis is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Davis here and had an interest with his father and brother in the M. System store. He leaves a wife and one child.

State and School Report Is Delayed

Gov. Parnell Expected to Base Reorganization Fight on This Report

LITTLE ROCK, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Reports of surveys on the state government and upon state institutions of high learning expected for some weeks yet, reports too Governor Parnell's office here have indicated.

The Bureau of Municipal Research of the state government, upon which Governor Parnell is expected to base his fight for a reorganization of the government along more efficient lines.

The educational survey, which was to have been submitted to Governor Parnell last week by the Bureau of Education at Washington, has been delayed and it is expected this report will not be forthcoming until about November 1.

Markets

October cotton gained 14 points during early morning trading on the New York Exchange Thursday only to settle down at the opening figure when the gong sounded for the day. The price opened at 10.92 and closed at 10.92, rising one cent early in the day to 11.06. Yesterday's close was 10.82.

December lost a point during the day's trading, opening at 11.12 and closing at 11.10-11, the same price as yesterday's close. Compress receipts were: By wagon, 62 bales, and 196 bales by railroad, a total of 258 bales. This was the largest day's receipts this season.

Oil Industry Revival in Mexico

Country Once Was Second Petroleum Producing Nation

By HARRY W. FRANTZ, Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—(By Air Mail.)—Mexico, once the second petroleum producing country of the world, has now barely ahead of Peru in this place, has prospects for a revival in production, according to the latest reports and the consensus of opinion here based on the latest official reports and the consensus of opinion here based on the latest official reports and the consensus of opinion here based on the latest official reports.

The optimistic optimism is the dominant feature of foreign opinion concerning the future of Mexican petroleum production, but the pessimistic is tempered with optimism as figures for the first half of the current year do not indicate a decline over 1929, and there is a slight decline.

The more hopeful long-range outlook for Mexico has been extended by the energetic campaign by the Mexican Ministry of Industry, Commerce and Labor to encourage exploration and development work. The chaotic condition in the international petroleum situation during the last few years has been a tremendous expansion in California and Venezuela production tends to be relieved by better organization, and the United States by pro-active efforts. A relief in the general situation would tend to benefit Mexico.

Mexican petroleum production in recent years was to some extent affected by the fact that it was not suitable for gasoline manufacture, but the petroleum of United States oil fields which were produced in excess. Experts now believe that a revival may in the future be offset by larger markets for bulk oil and for heavy oil to be used in asphalt manufacture. Mexican oil has been adapted to these purposes.

According to articles in leading trade publications, the modification of Mexican tax laws has been one of the most important factors in the favoring of the change of foreign opinion concerning the Mexican industry. According to unofficial figures, tax revenue to the Mexican government in respect of oil from 1920 to 1929, inclusive, was $12,810,000. The amount for 1929 was $2,740,000. To years later, the amount of $2,990,000 was reached. The figures in later years were: 1924, $2,910,000; 1925, $1,411,000; 1926, $5,000,000; 1927, $1,411,000; 1928, $5,000,000; and 1929, $4,311,000.

During that decade, the reduction in the productivity of Mexican petroleum industry caused foreign interests to look to Venezuela and other new fields. Now with new tax laws intended to encourage Mexican production, it is not improbable that foreign companies in Mexico will plan to increase production.

Mexico's relative position in world petroleum production is indicated in the following statistics, based on official reports from the several countries:

United States—1927, 901,125,000 barrels or 71.4 per cent of world total; 1929, 1,006,000,000 barrels or 67.8 per cent.

1928, 901,474,000 barrels or 69.0 per cent; 1929, 1,006,000,000 barrels or 67.8 per cent.

Venezuela—1927, 63,134,000 barrels or 5.0 per cent; 1928, 105,749,000 barrels or 8.0 per cent; 1929, 137,000,000 barrels or 9.2 per cent.

Russia—1927, 77,018,000 barrels or 6.1 per cent; 1928, 84,704,000 barrels or 6.4 per cent; 1929, 103,000,000 barrels or 6.9 per cent.

Persia—1927, 39,688,000 or 3.2 per cent; 1928, 43,461,000 barrels or 3.3 per cent; 1929, 45,220,000 barrels or 3.0 per cent.

Mexico—1927, 54,121,000 barrels or 5.1 per cent; 1928, 50,151,000 barrels or 3.8 per cent; 1929, 44,889,000 barrels or 3.0 per cent.

After Mexico, the countries next in order were the Netherlands, East Indies, Rumania, Colombia, and Peru. Remaining oil-producing countries of the world did not produce as much as 10,000,000 barrels each.

Beats Blease

With returns from South Carolina's Democratic primary nearly complete, it appeared that James F. Byrnes, above, had beaten Senator Cole Blease for the Democratic senatorial nomination—equivalent, in that state, to election. Byrnes is a former congressman.

Three tables of bridge Tuesday afternoon at her home in the Cornelius apartments on South Main street. Graceful goldenrod and garden flowers, stressing the glorious color note of the approaching fall season were used in decorating the rooms. Dainty prizes went to Mrs. L. D. Cochran and Mrs. Wilkins. The beautiful color note of yellow was also emphasized in the tempting sandwich and salad course served at the close of the game.

James Worked It, But Made Mistake Somewhere

CABOT, Ark., Sept. 18.—(UP)—The trickery of James Washington Adkinson, negro, is not so good, James admitted. Invited to a dance, James felt the need of a new suit. Visiting Little Rock, James dropped into a cleaning establishment and asked if there was a suit for "Willie Huston." There wasn't, but a suit was found belonging to a man with a name similar to Huston.

James looked it over! Pretty good suit, he decided, and ordered it sent to him at Cabot. After loud protests by the owner when he discovered his suit missing, officials of the establishment traced James down. He missed the dance.

War Mother Dies After Long Illness

Illness Kept Her From Visiting Grave of Son, Killed in War

HELENA, Sept. 18.—(P)—Death has intervened to prevent Mrs. Eliza Babatier from making a Gold Star mothers' pilgrimage to France, and to two other tiny graves wherein rest the remains of her first born in Switzerland.

Mrs. Sabatier, who was to have left with a contingent of Gold Star mothers in May for the cemeteries of France, became seriously ill and was forced to postpone the trip. Her death last Saturday after a lingering illness ended a life which saw much tragedy during the 40 years since she came to America with her husband from Switzerland.

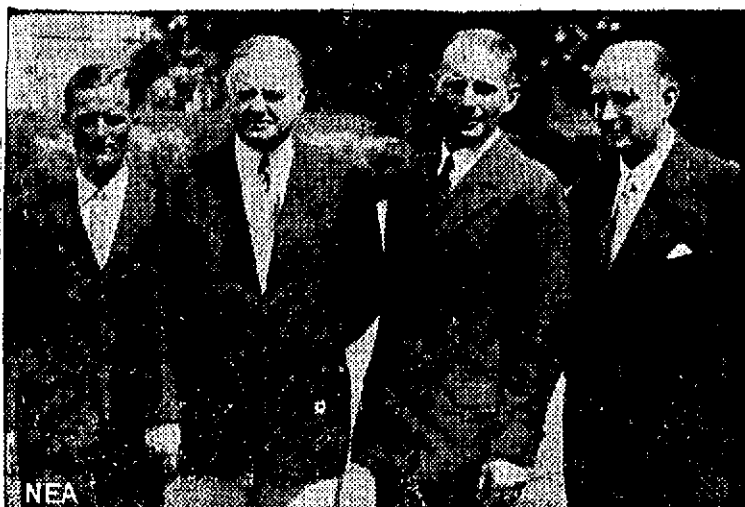

Her son, Charles Abatier, died in action in the Argonne Forest during the final days of the World war. His body lies buried near the scene of his death.

Mr. and Mrs. Abatier came to Phillips county in 1902, settling at Hicks, in the western part of the county, where they lived until their deaths.

Death a few years later claimed her husband, and then other children. Out of eight children born to her, only two survive. Two lie buried in Switzerland, and the others near Hicks. Those surviving her are her daughter, Mrs. Bertha Elbert, of Alice, Tex., and a son Reni Cabatier, of near Hicks.

Mrs. Sabatier's health had failed since news came to her in 1918 that her son had died in action. She never regained her full health. It was a bitter disappointment to her when she was forced to postpone the pilgrimage to her children's graves, and this fact probably contributed toward further weakening her resistance.

Hoover Talks of Northern Air Route

Intercontinental air service by way of Greenland and Iceland was the subject discussed when this group met at the White House. Left to right are Edward Ziemer, co-pilot of the German trans-Atlantic flight, President Hoover, who received the aviators, Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau, and Dr. Otto Kiep, counselor of the German Embassy. Mr. Hoover showed great interest in his guests' opinion that a northern air route, with two refueling stops, could be maintained.

Have Rain in Most Of Drouth Areas

Several States Receive Only Showers and Relief Is Temporary

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Rains of the past week at last brought to an end the parching months which seared wide agricultural areas between the Rockies and the Appalachian mountains. Generous rainfall fell throughout most of that territory, states that previously had suffered most from lack of rain. It included virtually all of the area from the northern portion of the Ohio valley, northern Missouri and eastern Kansas southward to the Gulf of Mexico.

The average rainfall ranged from 1.5 inches to four inches, with some localities reporting even heavier precipitation. However, parts of Iowa, northern Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and Ohio received only local rains affording but spotty relief.

The Northern Great Plains states and parts of the Southeast had generous rains, but northward from Virginia and West Virginia, and in much of the lake region and West Central Great Plains, the fall was light.

Key From Fish Only Relic of Shipwreck

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., Sept. 18.—(UP)—William F. Farrell has obtained possession of what is believed the only existing relic of the famous steamer Portland disaster.

The ship sank with all on board in a terrific blizzard off the Massachusetts coast on November 26, 1898. A total of 157 persons perished. Farrell has a big brass key bearing the word "Portland" and the figures "122." It was found in the stomach of a codfish caught off the Massachusetts coast only a few days after the steamer foundered.

Negress Given Four-Year Term For Killing Husband

NEWPORT, Sept. 18.—Nellie Harris, negro woman, was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary following her conviction by a Circuit Court jury of killing her husband, Jim Harris, on the Newport toll bridge last February.

The woman was alleged to have taken a pistol with her when she went to take her husband's lunch to him and to have shot him to death on the bridge, where he was foreman of a construction gang. The state asked the death penalty.

Road Men Hunt For Buried Treasure

Mountaineer Alleged to Have Buried Charred Keg 23 Years Ago

RUSSELLVILLE, Sept. 18.—(P)—Search for a precious treasure has slowed up highway construction work near here.

The reputed "treasure" was buried 23 years ago in a charred keg by an old mountaineer who manufactured liquor in violation of the federal law requiring a license and tax. The old man buried it so that when he finished serving a five-year term, he would be well stocked with rare-old whisky.

The road workers were worked up over the story, it appeared, and picks and shovels were diverted from their usual operations to a feverish activity at the reputed scene of the buried liquor cache.

Sees It Built, Burned

KENDALLVILLE, Ind., Sept. 18.—(UP)—G. M. Shew, 74, witnessed erection and destruction of a barn, although the two events occurred nearly three-quarters of a century apart. In 1866 a party of 50 men gathered on a farm one mile west of Brimfield, Ind., and raised heavy oak timbers into place to erect a large barn. Shew was then 10 years old. Recently, 64 years later, Shew was passing the farm when he saw one of the buildings on fire. He hurried to the place and saw the same barn destroyed.

More city pavement in 1930, and improved sanitary conditions in the alleys and business back-ways.
Support the Chamber of Commerce.

COUNTY
A county highway program providing for the construction of a minimum amount of all-weather road each year, to gradually reduce the dirt road mileage.
Political and economic support for every scientific agricultural program which offers practical benefits to Hempstead county great-est industry.
Encourage farmer organizations, believing that co-operative effort is as practical in the country as it is in town.

STATE
Continued progress on the state highway program.
Fairness tax reform, and a more efficient government through the budget system of expenditures.
Free Arkansas from the cattle tick.

Money For Road Work

THE city council and the power board are to be commended for their effort to give whatever relief is possible among local wood-sellers by offering to buy the available supply for the municipal plant.

At the same time, The Star thinks the council acted wisely by compromising between popular demand for the wood fuel, and the sober judgment of the municipal plant operators, who believe gas is the cheaper fuel.

The result is that the city will buy all the fire-wood that is offered within the next six months, but plans to place only half of its boilers on this fuel, believing that will consume all the wood actually delivered at the plant.

The compromise apparently meets the wishes of everybody concerned. A fire-wood market is offered again, as in the old days, but the plant operators are not to be forced to make an unnecessary gamble until the new fuel is actually on hand in worth-while quantities.

As the issue sharply divided the city, The Star had no choice but to stay out of the argument. It was with regret that we reported in our news columns a year ago that the municipal plant had definitely abandoned wood as a fuel, thus discontinuing a revenue for some local farmers that amounted in the aggregate to between twenty and thirty thousand dollars a year. But it was contended by the power board at the time that the supply of fire-wood frequently fell short and that the municipal plant had been using gas as a reserve fuel for several years.

We are fortunate in being able to obtain a compromise satisfactory at this time. However, it might be well to point out the inherent dangers that surround a municipally-owned utility. It is subject to the full force of popular opinion. The operators are not always given a fair chance. The success of the Hope plant in the past has been due to the implicit public confidence given its operators, and of course, to sound public management.

May that confidence and that management be perpetual. Hope is one out of a thousand American cities where public management has succeeded. Believing in the cause, The Star naturally is gratified that the recent issue over wood fuel has been compromised without harming the general policies of the management or damaging municipal ownership as a principle dear to the heart of this city.

When "Big Shots" Rule

IN the northern part of Ohio there is a very exclusive little village of 270 inhabitants, nearly all of whom are millionaires, says Bruce Catton, newspaper writer, and he further tells us that this village, like all others, has its own government, but this village is unique in that all of its elected officials are rich business men.

Now, of course, under such rule it would appear that this little village would enjoy great prosperity, that is, the highest order of efficiency would prevail in the way in which its affairs were conducted. These rich business men had made fortunes. They conducted their business affairs well. The ideal type of citizen to rule the community, one might say.

However, a state examiner recently investigated the affairs of the little village, and what did he find? He found that these titans of the business world weren't so highly efficient at running the affairs of a town even as small as that one. The council had not met as often as it should, the mayor had failed to sign documents he should have signed, certain needed ordinances had failed of passage through oversight, and the village funds had been spent without proper authority.

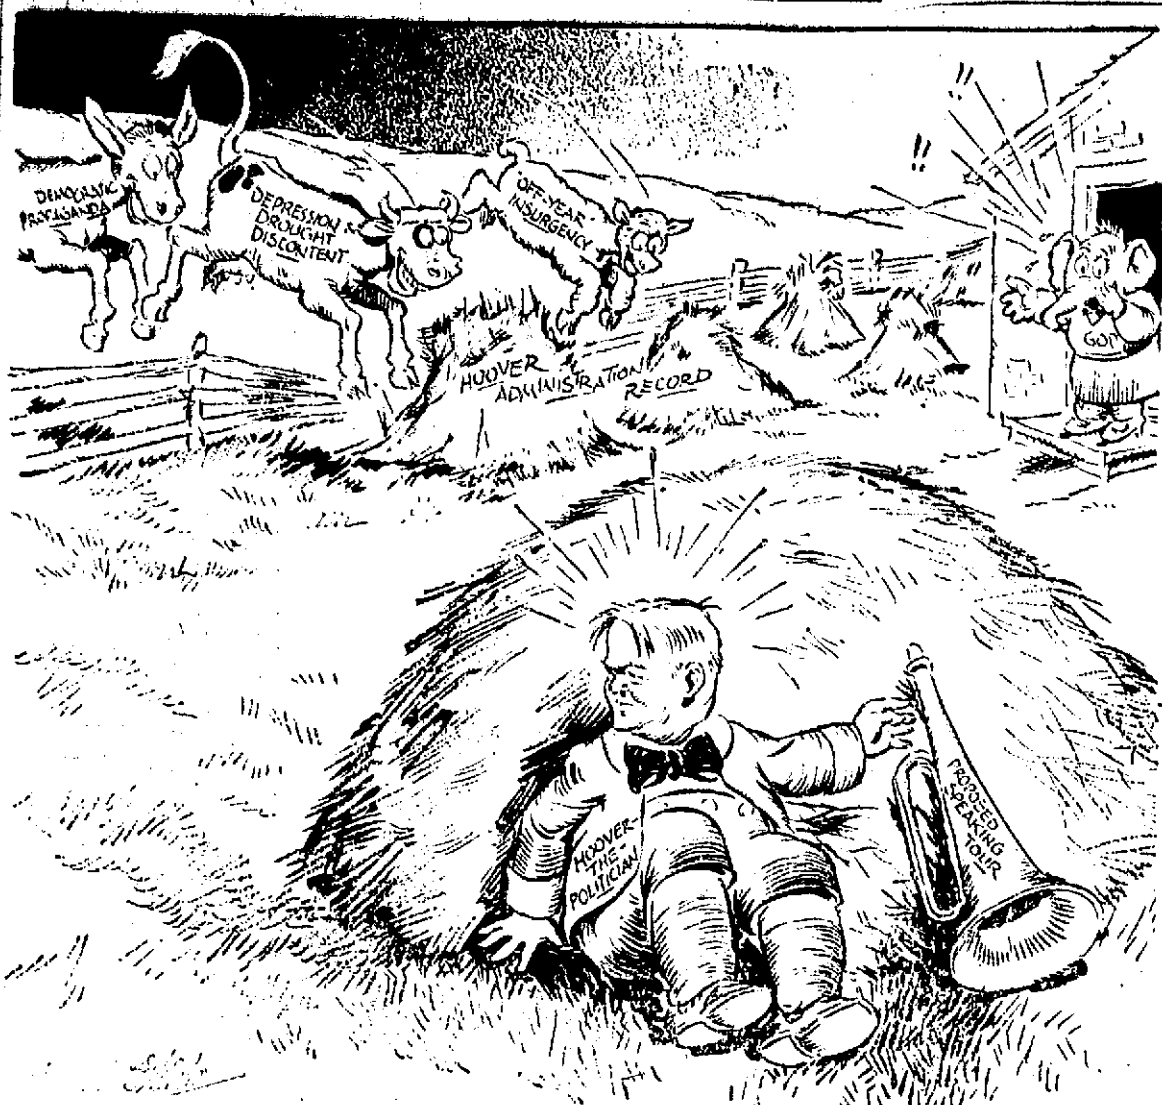

In short, these business titans were flops at running a political organization. There was no graft, padded payrolls or passing out of political jobs. There was, as Catton expresses it, just a bit of governmental slovenliness, that was all.

It may be too presumptuous to cite this one instance as typical, but if it is, much of the talk of how our governmental structures would be rebuilt over-night if business men took hold of them, registers as more or less bunk. It requires more than mere business ability to run a government, whether it be city, state or federal.

We have in Mr. Hoover the highest type of business man—that is, a man of efficiency. He is generally accepted as a great organizer, a competent leader. But when he faces the exigencies of politics he is almost helpless for the simple reason that he is not a politician. Governments simply do not function the same as businesses. That is because there are certain fundamental defects in government which perhaps never can be corrected. Of course, there can be improvements and those can be accomplished by electing a higher type of men but that does not necessarily mean that they must be businessmen. —Arkansas Democrat.

The reunion will be held Oct. 23 to 25.

Bread and Butter Only

The Hope Water & Light Plant will buy fire-wood beginning Wednesday, September 24.

This is a relief measure for the benefit of the actual wood-cutters living in the territory adjacent to the city, and purchase of wood will be strictly regulated to protect their interests.

Purchase will be restricted to five cords per week from one family, but the Water & Light Plant reserves the right to move this restriction up or down whenever it appears necessary to protect the wood-cutters' interests.

The Water & Light Plant will lose money on every cord of fire-wood it purchases for fuel. Our purchases will be made strictly as a relief measure, to put a little money into the hands of local people to buy bread and butter. No one is expected to make a profit out of wood sales to the plant.

We reserve the right to investigate any and all arrangements between wood-haulers and wood-cutters, and any wood-hauler suspected of dealing unfairly with the wood-cutter will be barred from further dealings at the Hope plant.

Specifications and Price

All fire-wood offered for sale at the plant must be four feet long, and split. Positively no purchases will be made of wood that fails to meet these specifications.

The plant will pay $2.75 for oak; and $2.50 for pine.

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY BUTCHER

WASHINGTON—Editor, Uncle Sam is a fine boss or else a lot of people are easily satisfied.

Periodically one opens one's eyes in more or less astonishment here as the Civil Service transfers a few old federal employees to the retired list and one discovers men who have been on the same job or almost the same job for half a century or more.

Although the government's pay is comparatively low, its jobs are seldom arduous, and in most cases they are much more secure than the general run of jobs to be found elsewhere. That's one reason men and women stay in the federal service for so many decades. Government workers here, unless especially distinguished in certain lines, do not find many opportunities for change in the capital. Sometimes they can switch to other bureaus, but the limited commercial and industrial life of the District of Columbia offers few possibilities within easy jumping distance. That's another reason.

Take Pride in Service

But the government service also breeds, an interesting type of worker who takes a deep personal pride in the fact that he is part of the government. He takes immense pride in the performance of his own job and, besides, with long service and assured security, a sense of vested property right in it which is seldom felt by employees of private business. A newspaper correspondent who browses around among the bureaus encounters many of these proud old men who delight in displaying their profound knowledge of their given fields and their methods of operation and who seldom look forward happily to the time when they can go on full retirement pay.

Mr. James Ware has just been retired at the age of 91, the oldest government employee on the books. For 57 years he has been superintending of construction and repair work at Forts Monroe and Wool, at the entrance of Chesapeake Bay.

Ware has been in the government service, amazing as it seems, for 69 years. He went to work for the Army Ordnance service in 1861 and was transferred to his present post in 1873.

Jacob Frech, now being retired from a chief clerkship in the War Department, is only 87, but he, too, has been with the department for 69 years. His fellow employees gave him a watch and chain as they said farewell, and Frech said he would now wear a watch for the very first time.

Out with Ware and Frech go a dozen or more other War Department employees, all beyond the age of 74, which means that each has had at least two if not more two-year extensions of service beyond the retirement age.

Henry Lewis Bryan, editor of Statutes at Large, of whose work your correspondent wrote recently, is retired from the State Department after serving successively in the Army, War Department, Senate and State Department since 1871. It will take a long time to train a man to replace him, and his time undoubtedly would have been extended had his health not been failing.

Arrest Follows Family Quarrel at Truman

LAKE CITY, Sept. 15.—Hubert Neyman is charged with kidnapping his nine-year-old brother from the home of his parents at Truman on the last day of August this year, and with striking his mother when she came after the child September 5, at Herma, near Lake City.

After the quarrel, the mother came here and made complaint to Justice of the Peace Timms, who sent Constable Phillips after Hubert. The accused man made bond and will be given a hearing here Wednesday.

Old Milk Wagon Horse Is Quiet

Washington Residents Sleep on as Rubber Shod Equine Makes Rounds

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—(UP)—Found! An ideal milk wagon horse. No longer will the residents of certain streets in Washington be disturbed by clatter of hoofs and loud shouts of "whoa" and "gadgad." "Bud," a diligent worker for one of the Capital City's milk companies, has carefully considered the feelings of a peaceful sleeper and has allowed his master to teach him the latest methods of keeping quiet.

With rubber shoes on his feet "bud" comes into the residential section without detection. When the time comes for the driver to deliver the milk, "bud" is halted with merely a "such" instead of the usual "whoa." When his master is down the street there is no need for a loud "gadgad" to bring "bud" along. A wave of the hand starts the rubber-shod feet into motion and Washington's residents sleep on, unaware of the visit of the milk wagon until they find their milk in its usual place.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

A fat Aunt from Macon, who is anti-tobacco, anti-liquor and anti almost everything save anti-fat, posters the Telegraph with the statement that "Cannibals will not eat a man who has used tobacco. Isn't that," she glances, "a powerful argument against the nasty weed?" "No," answered the editor, "Who is going to go without tobacco just to pamper a cannibal?"

In it he sets forth his belief in the superiority of gas heaters to any other form.

Less than four years ago he wrote that marriage "does not appeal very forcibly to my private tastes."

He added that getting married was "comparable to entering a monastery or enlisting for war."

But now he tells friends, "I formerly was not as wise as I am now."

Mrs. Hardt, also a writer, pretty and 18 years younger than Mencken, who will be 50 September 12, and, this to say:

"I've read everything Mr. Mencken ever wrote about marriage and I think his opinions were very well put. I think they are absolutely true when applied to most marriages, but of course they don't apply to every marriage."

They will live in Baltimore. But neither will say where they will live, any more than they will divulge details of the wedding.

Piles Go Quick

Piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Only an internal medicine can remove the cause. That's why Leonhardt's HEM-ROID succeeds, because it relieves this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Dr. Leonhardt's prescription has such a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief in chronic and stubborn cases, that Ward & Son says try HEM-ROID at my expense. Your Pile suffering must end or money back.

Rise to Power In Germany

Adolf Hitler, head of the German Fascist party is the man of the hour in Germany today as a result of the general elections, which gave his party 107 seats in the Reichstag. The Fascists are bitterly opposed to republican form of government in Germany.

Legion Stamp Sale Now in Progress

Convention Committee to Meet in Little Rock Next Sunday

LITTLE ROCK, Sept. 18.—(Special)—Co-operation upon the part of chambers of commerce, civic clubs and fraternal organizations, as well as American Legion posts and individuals is sought in the miniature poster stamp sale now in progress to send a special all-Arkansas exhibit train north and east this fall, under the sponsorship of the Arkansas Department of the Legion, said Charles O. Kelley, executive secretary of the Boston Convention committee.

"The Boston Convention committee urges chambers of commerce and civic organizations, particularly over the state to purchase the stamps in

Konjola Ends Rheumatism and Other Ailments

Here Is Just Another Proof of The Power of This New and Different Medicine

MRS. E. O. HAYS

"I have lived in East St. Louis for fifteen years, and up to about two years ago, I enjoyed good health," said Mrs. E. O. Hays, 1119 Trembley avenue. "Then a mild case of rheumatism developed. Month by month this dread ailment increased in severity, notwithstanding the fact that I spent a great deal of money for medicines and treatments. A case of head catarrh caused me much discomfort and affected my hearing."

"So many local people had been benefited by Konjola that I began the treatment. I had not finished the second bottle before my health began to show improvement. I have taken ten bottles of this great medicine and those terrible pains of rheumatism have been driven from my knees, ankles, hips and back. Even my catarrh has been helped so much that my hearing is much improved. I never expect to be without Konjola in my home."

Taken regularly, in averages cases over a six to eight week period Konjola is used for thousands daily, all that it did for Mrs. Hays. Try Konjola today.

Konjola is sold in Hope, Ark., at Bryant's Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

large quantities, distribute the stamps and thereby aid in the program to advertise Arkansas resources and products through the mails over the entire nation," said Mr. Kelley.

More than 3,000,000 of the attractive stamps have been printed and lithographed and are now being distributed to purchasers from the committee's headquarters in the War Memorial building, here. Requisitions for the stamps should be made as early as possible, and the orders will be filled as they are received.

The committee said Mr. Kelley, is anxious to dispose of the stamps this week, in order that it can devote the balance of the time to the arrangements for the exhibits, which will also give Arkansas favorable publicity at Boston, at the national convention of the Legion, October 6-8. There is still room for additional exhibits, and concerns individuals desiring to send an exhibit to Boston on this special train, should communicate with Mr. Kelley or J. B. Carter, Pine Bluff, secretary for the Associated Industries of Arkansas, Inc., for details.

The Boston Convention committee will meet at the War Memorial building here at 10 a. m. Sunday, Sept. 21, to discuss the stamp sale and exhibit plans. Invitations to attend this meeting have been extended to the public and especially to exhibitors.

The special train will leave Little Rock October 2, and return October 12.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CELIA ROGERS, just out of high school, spends hot July days looking for a job. Her mother, MARGARET ROGERS, is a widow, employed as a seamstress in a dress shop. On the day the story opens Margaret receives a letter which she considers from Celia. It is an offer, from JOHN MITCHELL, to provide the girl with every advantage of education, travel and social position if the mother will give her up. Margaret declines and will never do this.

Celia goes for a drive with a friend, STUELL, a young newspaper photographer. Harvey tells her he loves her and swears to marry her. She will be married. Next day the girl continues her search for work and secures position as stenographer. She goes to the shop to see her mother and finds Mrs. Rogers has been taken ill suddenly. The doctor says she has exhaustion and must rest.

CHAPTER VI

It was Wednesday night that Margaret Rogers wrote the letter. Two days later a man, middle-aged, well dressed and obviously prosperous, paced up and down a room in the Belvedere Hotel. Once he stopped, snatched his fingers impatiently and then strode on again. He paused before the telephone.

"This is Mitchell in room 716," he said sharply. "Have there been any calls for me?"

"No, Mr. Mitchell."

"You're sure, are you?" The feminine voice assured him she was quite sure. Why shouldn't she be? It was the third time in half an hour that the guest in room 716 had put the same inquiry.

John Mitchell replaced the telephone. Then he glanced at a wrist watch, seated himself in a large overstuffed chair and began drumming his fingers on the chair arm.

John Mitchell was a large man, tall, with a figure that was well filled out but not stout. He looked like a golfer who also enjoyed his meals. His hair had been dark once—nearly black. Now there was more than a sprinkling of gray in it though from his face one would have placed the man's age at about 50. As a matter of fact, John Mitchell knew how to drive a bargain. Indeed, he knew how to turn the vote in a directors' meeting. The color in his cheeks indicated an excellent digestion and the man looked in splendid health.

STUFFED away in a pocket of that suit was the letter Margaret Rogers had written. It was a brief note. It read:

"Dear John: I can not give you an answer immediately. There are so many things to be considered. Perhaps if you could come here so that we can talk matters over and come to a clear understanding it could be settled more easily. I want to do what is right. That is all that I can say now. Very sincerely, Margaret."

Mitchell had sent two telegrams on receipt of that letter. He was waiting now for Margaret Rogers' arrival.

The telephone buzzed insistently.

"Hello—yes!" the man answered. Then his voice changed entirely. "Oh—you've come? I'll be down immediately."

He looked at his watch as he stepped out of the room, noting his visitor was just five minutes late. Mitchell was frowning a

"I want Celia," he said abruptly. He said it as a man accustomed to taking the things he desired.

The man nodded. The masked-like expression settled over his face again.

"I want Celia," he said abruptly. He said it as a man accustomed to taking the things he desired.

Margaret Rogers' lips quivered but with an effort she kept them firm. "I don't know—" she began.

Mitchell broke in ruthlessly. "It's the only thing for the child," he insisted. You ought to see that. What can you give her? What future have you planned for her here? She's finished high school. Seventeen—almost a young woman. What's she going to do now?"

Margaret was swift in her own defense. "Celia's been happy," she declared.

He scoffed. "She's a child. Now she needs to learn the world. Is she talented? I'll give her training in the finest schools in this country or in Europe. If she wants society I'll take care of that, too. I can do it. I can give her everything in the world she needs! Margaret, don't you see—?"

"Schools and money aren't everything," the woman countered. "I want her to have a chance for happiness. I want her to be safe!"

She put her hand to her face but John Mitchell did not notice the quick motion. He did not notice that when Margaret's hand dropped the fingers were wet with tears.

"It can all be arranged very easily," Mitchell was saying. "I'm in New York now. Moved there two months ago. He mentioned the name of an immensely respected legal firm with which he was affiliated.

"But what about Celia?"

"I've arranged everything," Mitchell insisted. "She'll stay with my mother in the old Gramercy Square place. I'm there too. Mother may be getting old but no one could launch a girl socially better than she can. Mother knows everyone. She'll introduce her to the right people."

"You look well!"

"Thank so?" John Mitchell eyed his companion closely. "I wouldn't have known you, Margaret."

"I'm not surprised. I didn't expect you to."

"Wouldn't have known you!" Mitchell repeated as though trying to convince himself of a surprising truth.

"Haven't we better—get at what you came to talk about?"

to taking the things he desired.

In the fall I'll send Celia to Europe.

The whirlwind of plans was too much for Margaret Rogers.

"I can't offer anything," said Margaret through firm lips, "except what I've given her all her life. I'm willing to work for her. I'm willing to do anything to make her happy."

"Then that's the answer!" the man said, elated.

"Is it?" the woman asked gravely. "Are you so sure?"

JOHN MITCHELL'S cheeks darkened.

"Celia is mine," Margaret Rogers reminded him firmly. "I don't have to give her up!"

"No!" The man's voice rose sharply. "You don't have to give her up. My God, Margaret, you've robbed me of every happiness! You took her away. Do you want to ruin my whole life?"

He had forgotten where they were and so had Margaret. She was in the past again.

"Don't—don't say that, John!" Margaret gasped.

Mitchell was on his feet. "Where is she? When can I see her?" he asked.

Margaret Rogers was very pale. "You can see her," she said. "She's—lovely, John. She's beautiful! Celia doesn't know anything about all this. She thinks she's going to be a stenographer and earn $20 a week. Oh, I'm so proud of her. I want her to have the very best!"

"I know."

Both of them were silent for a time. Mitchell's eyes were downcast. It was a moment of crisis and Margaret Rogers was making a tremendous effort.

"John," her words came finally in tortured rushes, "I'm trying—trying so hard not to be selfish. You can take her if you'll agree to my terms. You'll have to promise!"

"What are the conditions?" Mitchell asked harshly.

Margaret leaned forward, her face close to his.

"Promise," she said tensely, "that Celia shall never—know!"

Legion Gathering Products of State

Train From State to Advertise Products at the Legion Convention

PINE BLUFF, Sept. 17.—A large number of manufacturers of Arkansas products have already forwarded the exhibits to the American Legion headquarters at Little Rock, according to J. B. Carter, general chairman of the American Legion National Arkansas Exhibit committee.

"If Arkansas ever needed patriots, it is today. Now is the time for every individual to put every possible ounce of energy into broadcasting the good things about Arkansas, and I sincerely hope the manufacturers of the state will be big enough to exhibit their products without anticipating orders therefrom, especially since there is no direct cost assessed for the space. I believe they believe in Arkansas."

Plans are under way for the principal citizens of Arkansas to address the luncheon clubs of Boston during the National American Legion Convention on "Arkansas—present and future." Among those who will probably make addresses are H. C. Couch, R. L. Gordon, Immediate Past Commander of the American Legion Department of Arkansas, and National Commander Bodenhamer, and others.

In the opinion of Mr. Carter, this is one of the greatest opportunities for advertising Arkansas with the

SAMUEL HARDEN CHURCH

President of the Carnegie Institute

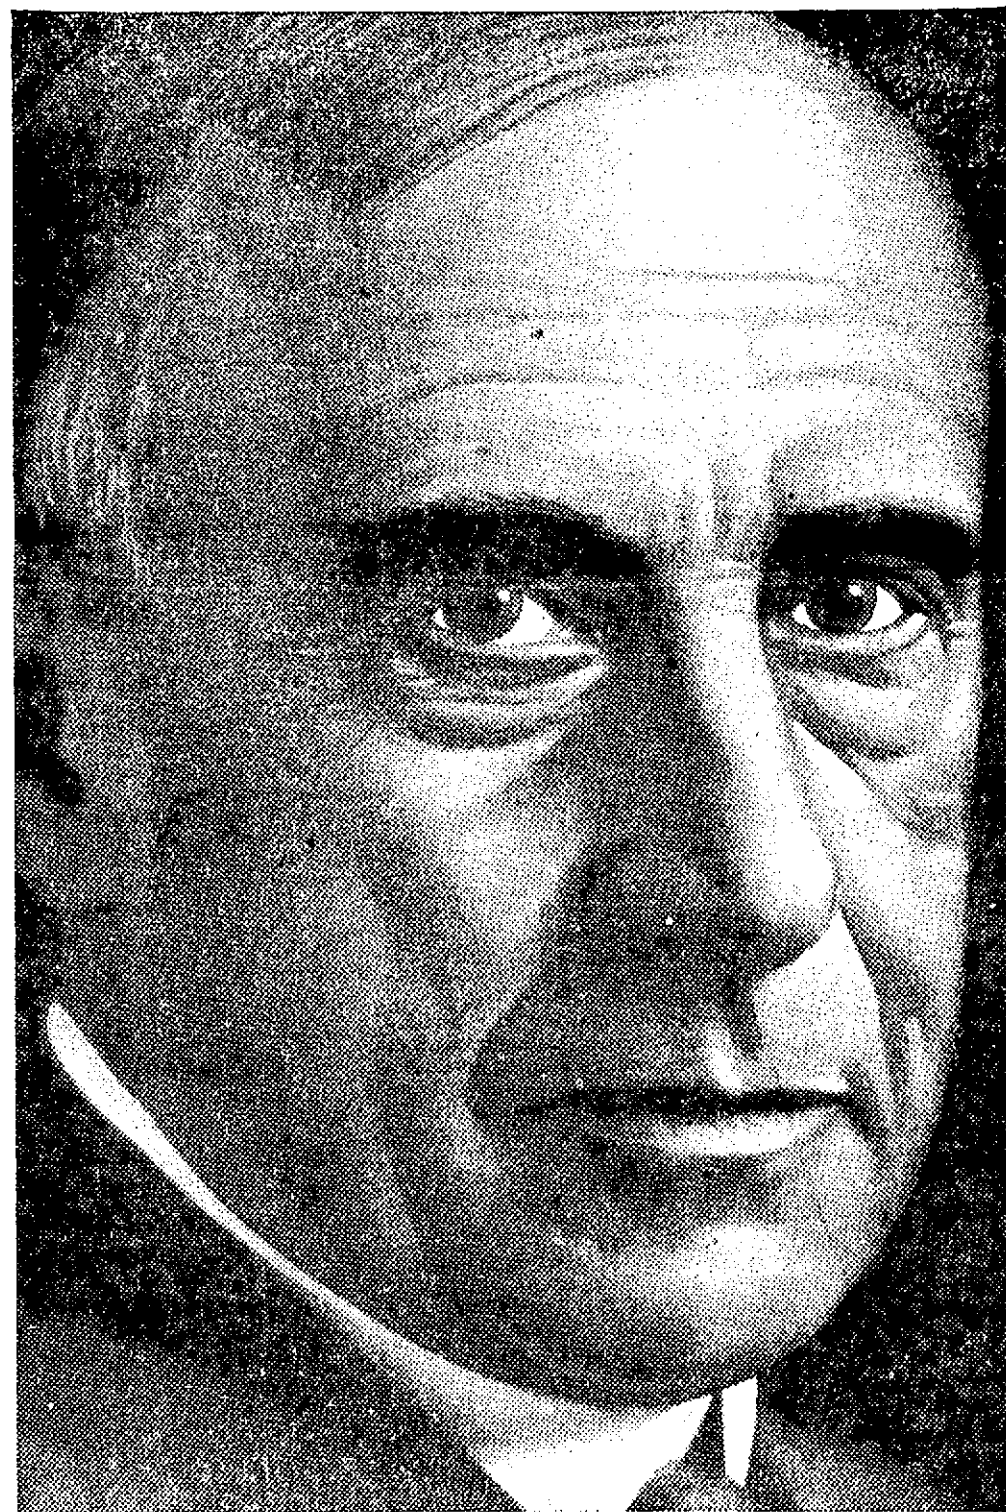

—that great enterprise founded by Andrew Carnegie at Pittsburgh for the promotion of art, science and literature. Known throughout the world as a student of current problems.

Chairman of the Board Carnegie Institute of Technology, Director American National Theatre.

Member American Mission to Morocco 1923. Officer of Legion of Honor (France).

"Perhaps the most vital influence in the American business world in recent years has been the tendency of industrial leaders to join hands with science. No more significant example of this trend exists than your modern use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the 'Toasting' of the LUCKY STRIKE tobaccos. The great success of your experiments demonstrates the wisdom of this union between business and science."

Samuel Harden Church

LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so TOASTING removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing. No wonder 20,679 physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating! Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray.

Cowboy Praises Code of Outlaws

Range Rider Says Bad Men Warned Victims and Kept Word

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 17.—(UP)—R. J. "Happy Jack" Allen, Wyoming state law enforcement commissioner and old-time cowboy, believes outlaws of the early West were more honorable and trustworthy than the bad men of today.

Allen, who once served as a bronco rider with Buffalo Bill's show, rode the Wyoming range in the 90's and has been in many a gun battle with cattle rustlers who in the early days maintained almost inaccessible haunts in the mountains Jackson Hole country.

"The old time outlaw had a code of honor which forbid him taking the life of a fellow man unless his own safety depended upon it, and even then he usually warned before he struck," Allen said.

The commissioner knew personally "Butch" Cassidy "Kid" Currey, alias "Pug Nose" George, the "Dago Kid," Harvey Wraith and other outlaws of the Hole-In-the-Wall country.

"Their word was as good as gold," Allen said. "They were fine fellows, but they had one bad streak—cattle rustling. And they were a lot better than these modern bad men who never warn before shooting."

Joyous Foot Bath Then Lift Out CORNS

Root and All—Out to Stay

Two tablespoonfuls of that amazingly refreshing and foot invigorating Radox to one gallon of water makes a footbath which after 3 or 4 night's soaking lifts out aching, maddening corns, callouses, toe-root and all.

Radox softens the hard outer layers of corn—and oxygen which Radox liberates, enters the pores each night penetrating further and further, carrying the salts right to root of corn which can be lifted out bodily.

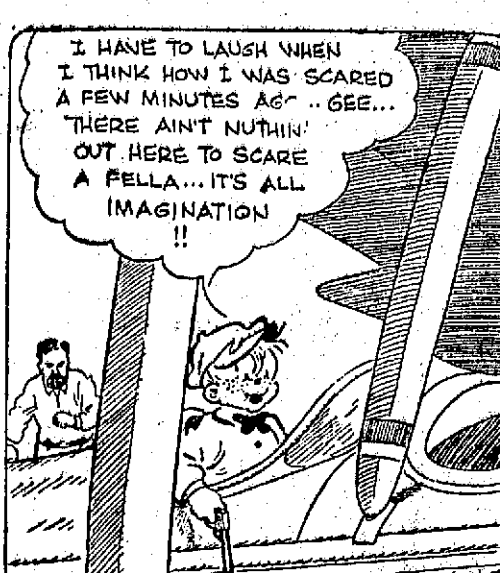

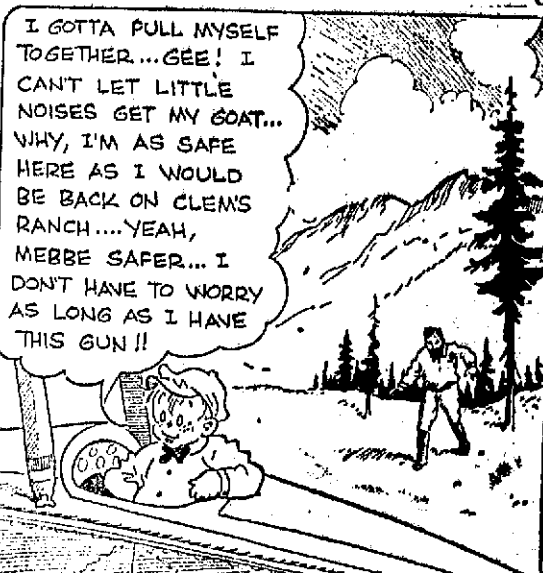

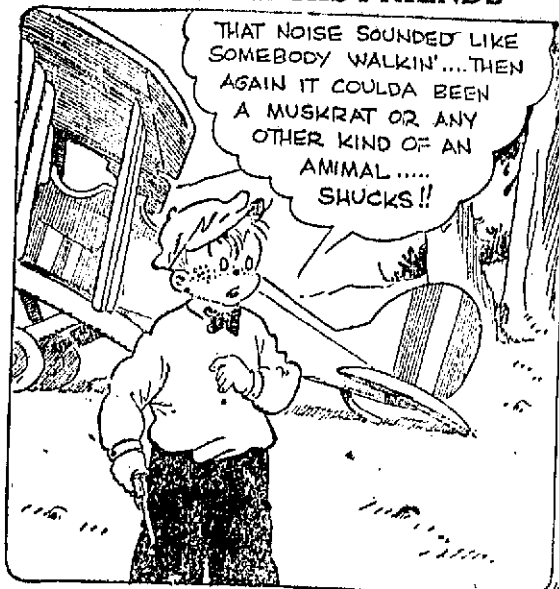

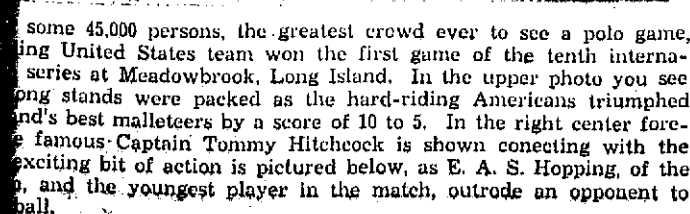

Wonderful to take out pain and burning and refresh tired feet! Get a package of Radox at Ward & Son or Bryant's Drug Store, or any drug store and know the joyous comfort of corn and callous free feet—Radox is the modern, scientific method to remove corns which completely eliminates old fashioned plasters, dangerous cutting, skin destroying acids and obsolete methods. ## His 50 Years in Baseball

by Alan Gould

No. 4—The Rise to Leadership

The man whose greatest fame in years to come was to be as a manager and tactical genius turned down his first chance to become the leader of a major league baseball club.

After nearly four seasons with the Washington Nationals, from late in 1886 through 1889, Connie Mack forsook "Organized Baseball" for the one and only time in his career by jumping to the Players' league, formed by the Brotherhood or players' union in 1890.

"We made no progress, however, and along late in August I was called in again. This time, however I was told Buckenberger had been relieved of his duties. I was asked to take charge. I felt it was then worth trying, and accepted."

It would add drama to Mack's life story to relate that he was an immediate success, but the fact is that he set no worlds on fire whatever upon assuming his first major league command.

The Pirates under his leadership finished seventh in 1894 and 1895, sixth in 1896. However, he had the team

Washington Wins Over Guernsey

Score of 10 to 4 Reported in the Game Played Wednesday

The Washington Senators (Arkansas of course) altogether contrary to most baseball teams are complaining of the excessive publicity they have been getting lately. In fact says Mgr. McWhorter, every time Washington loses a game the information finds its way to a prominent column where the whole country can see. But just let his team win the game and all is quiet in the news so far as Washington's victory is concerned.

Now as he says, turn about is fair play, and we agree with him, so in as much as Guernsey's victory over Washington was accorded front page prominence the other day we are going to announce today that when it becomes necessary for Washington to win a ball game in order to keep honor and prestige up to par, that they are right there 'with the goods. All of which was demonstrated Wednesday afternoon when as a return game to the before mentioned one with Guernsey, Washington carried the with a score of 10 to 4. Not knowing any particulars other than the score we will have to leave it to Washington to circulate the details.

His Is Lost Art

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 18.—(UP)—Piano tuning is becoming a lost art, says John Clark, 63-year-old follower of the profession, and it's all the fault of the modern jazz. "People have little need for a piano tuner now," he explains. "They don't care whether a piano is in tune or not. All they want from an instrument is noise."

Relief From Curse of Constipation

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."
But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.
Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright, eat 25 to 50c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store. John S. Gibson, Druggist.
